UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-WHITEWATER
MAY 13, 2023

More than 150 years ago, on April 21, 1868, the state's second normal school opened its doors to the first class of 48 students and nine faculty members.

A progressive spirit guided the development of the institution as it evolved from a normal school, which trained teachers for one-room schools, to Whitewater State Teachers College (1927), Wisconsin State College-Whitewater (1951), Wisconsin State University-Whitewater (1964) and as a member of the 13 four-year institutions in the University of Wisconsin System (1971).

Today, UW-Whitewater is a leading comprehensive university serving approximately 11,087 full- and part-time students with 60 undergraduate majors, 22 master's degree programs, one doctoral degree and one education specialist degree in the colleges of Arts and Communication, Business and Economics, Education and Professional Studies, Integrated Studies, and Letters and Sciences. The university awards more than 2,800 degrees every year.

Throughout its history, UW-Whitewater has produced graduates who have actively contributed to the growth of the state and nation. Student learning is the paramount focus of the university's programs and services.

The university takes pride in its regional leadership, national presence and global vision. Many of its academic programs are among the best in the country.

STUDENT SPEAKER

HOLLYN PETERSON

As a child, Hollyn Peterson faced a very uncertain future. As she battled cancer, she missed a significant portion of school to undergo life-saving surgeries, and the question of whether she would even be able to graduate from high school hung in the balance.

Today, the three-time cancer survivor is earning a Bachelor of Fine Arts with a painting emphasis from the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater — flourishing as a young adult with big dreams for the road ahead.

The Waukesha West High School graduate said a number of important people and programs have helped her get to where she is today. Peterson credits UW-Whitewater’s Center for Students with Disabilities with giving her the tools to move forward and make the transition into a four-year university as she continued to treat and manage her health. Advisors within the center helped her pick out classes and ensured she had the necessary accommodations toward a pathway of success.

Peterson said the entire faculty in the Department of Art and Design within the College of Arts and Communication were instrumental in helping her chart her future path in life.

“There were some professors who supported me — not just as an artist, but as a person and in my personal life as I was going through things,” Peterson said. “They were very flexible, education-wise, but they also provided me with emotional support.”

At the university, Peterson has been involved in the UW-Whitewater Dance Company, where she has served as vice president, InterVarsity at UW-Whitewater’s welcome team, Latinos Unidos and the Campus Assessment, Response and Evaluation Team, also known as CARE.

Peterson is earning a separate teaching certification, despite the challenges she faced as a child.

“I was always so behind. I hated it. I was so embarrassed,” Peterson said of her K-12 experience. “I wanted nothing to do with education.”

Her positive experiences at UW-Whitewater, however, prompted her to reconsider and gave her an opportunity to come to terms with some of the challenges she faced in her younger years. After graduation, Peterson is moving out east to pursue a Master of Fine Arts from Syracuse University in Syracuse, New York.

As she looks back on her time at UW-Whitewater, Peterson said she is overcome with gratitude for the many people who have helped her achieve success and view her challenges through a different lens.

“It’s been interesting to see how things ended up,” she said. “I am very curious to see how the next three years will go at Syracuse.” ❖

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

MICHAEL DOMITRZ

The desire to be an actor led Whitewater native Michael Domitrz to choose to go to college in Chicago. He was flourishing as an undergraduate when, one day in 1989, a phone call came that would change the course of his life. She told him that his older sister Cheri had been raped.

That call became first a call to action and then, eventually — a true calling. Wanting to support his sister, Domitrz soon moved back to Wisconsin to be closer to her, and transferred to UW-Whitewater. He studied business in the college where his father, Joseph Domitrz, served as dean, and joined the swimming and diving team coached by his mother, Joan Domitrz.

While attending a mandated training with the team, he heard a speaker address sexual assault prevention and realized he could do something about what happened to his sister by speaking out. Soon, every business class became an exercise in building his speaking business.

“Anyone who would let me come to speak, I was going to speak at. I would miss courses at times to make it happen. Thankfully, my professors understood because I was pursuing my passion — the whole reason you go to business school.”

Domitrz also became involved with the entrepreneurship program in the business school, which gave him the opportunity to see Michael Dell speak in Dallas. By 1992, he was recognized as “One of the Top 10 Collegiate Entrepreneurs in the USA” by the Association of Collegiate Entrepreneurs.

He met his wife, Karen, on campus. In 1993 he would graduate with a BBA in business and she would earn a B.S. in speech–public relations with a minor in professional business marketing in 1992. The two would go on to establish the business, the Center for Respect, that would allow him to eventually work full time speaking about sexual assault prevention, consent and bystander intervention. His sister Rita Hookstead, who received her BBA and MBA from UW-Whitewater, worked at the center for more than 17 years. His parents were also supportive throughout, as were his sisters Cheri and Vicki.

Over the course of 30 years he has spoken at hundreds of schools, universities and military installations around the world. He became a widely sought-after subject matter expert, appearing on TV, in articles in Forbes and the Wall Street Journal, and authoring books.

As he honed his stagecraft, he earned the designation of certified professional speaker in 2008 and was inducted into the National Speakers Association Hall of Fame in 2022.

Domitrz and his wife raised four sons — Anthony, Bryan, Steven, and Matthew — and now enjoy two grandchildren. Based in southeastern Wisconsin, he continues to travel nationally and internationally, spreading his message.

And he has warm memories of his alma mater and those who supported his early entrepreneurship. “When you have people supporting your journey on campus it makes all the difference.” ❖

WARHAWKS GIVE FUND

Congratulations to our graduating Warhawks and to the families and friends who supported their academic journeys and are here to cheer them on! We are so excited to see what our graduates do in the world, and we hope they always feel Warhawk pride for their campus home.

Your student made it to this milestone through hard work, and their achievement is remarkable. Every year, some of our Warhawks struggle to stay in school, unable to meet their tuition payments with the financial aid, loans, student jobs and parent resources they have. Some are able to achieve their higher education goals only because of the scholarships and other resources that our Warhawks Give fund provides.

Your gift to our Warhawks Give Fund — also referred to as the Greatest Needs Fund — directly supports the university’s driving purpose: success for students like your graduate-to-be.

Visit uww.edu/give to find out how your donation of any amount can help keep students in school, so one day their family and friends can be sitting where you are right now — celebrating them and imagining their bright future!

STUDENT SPEAKER

DAVIN STAVROPLOS

When he first entered the grounds of UW-Whitewater as a freshman, Davin Stavroplos knew he wanted to give back and make a difference.

Stavroplos, who is earning a B.A. in political science and is the first member of his immediate family to get a degree in higher education, made a mark at UW-Whitewater in a number of ways since he first enrolled in the fall of 2018.

Reflecting on his earliest days at the university, Stavroplos readily admits he initially struggled to acclimate himself to his new surroundings.

“If you leave your dorm room and make an effort to put yourself out there, you will put down roots real fast,” Stavroplos said. “I got to meet some really great people. Immediately, my fondness for the institution grew. I started taking it seriously and getting a better sense of the different folks who were coming here.”

Over a span of four of his five years at the university, Stavroplos served in Whitewater Student Government, culminating in a leadership role as student body president of the organization for the 2021-22 school year. He credits WSG with seeing UW-Whitewater — and his professional pursuits — through a different lens.

Student government also gave Stavroplos access to conversations and settings on campus that few other students have the opportunity to witness. He served on the search and screen committee this past fall that ultimately resulted in the hiring of Corey A. King as UW-Whitewater’s next leader.

This fall, Stavroplos said he plans to return to UW-Whitewater to work toward a master’s degree in the higher education leadership program.

Inspired by the impact that institutions such as UW-Whitewater make on countless students, from all walks of life, Stavroplos said he would like to give back further after receiving so much throughout his undergraduate experience.

“I think of UW-Whitewater as a place that can really, really improve someone’s quality of life after getting a degree,” Stavroplos said. “There are a lot of R-1 research institutions out there, but this is the kind of university that can really make a big difference in people’s lives. It certainly made a big difference in mine.”

While the journey has not always been easy — particularly in the midst of juggling student government and other organization involvement with his core studies — Stavroplos said he is grateful to the faculty who pressed him to persevere.

“This place gave me a really awesome opportunity, because I wasn’t always the best student in high school. Stavroplos said. “I feel obligated to pay it back.” ❖

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

MICHAEL DOMITRZ

The desire to be an actor led Whitewater native Michael Domitrz to choose to go to college in Chicago. He was flourishing as an undergraduate when, one day in 1989, a phone call came that would change the course of his life. She told him that his older sister Cheri had been raped.

That call became first a call to action and then, eventually — a true calling. Wanting to support his sister, Domitrz soon moved back to Wisconsin to be closer to her, and transferred to UW-Whitewater. He studied business in the college where his father, Joseph Domitrz, served as dean, and joined the swimming and diving team coached by his mother, Joan Domitrz.

While attending a mandated training with the team, he heard a speaker address sexual assault prevention and realized he could do something about what happened to his sister by speaking out. Soon, every business class became an exercise in building his speaking business.

“Anyone who would let me come to speak, I was going to speak at. I would miss courses at times to make it happen. Thankfully, my professors understood because I was pursuing my passion — the whole reason you go to business school.”

Domitrz also became involved with the entrepreneurship program in the business school, which gave him the opportunity to see Michael Dell speak in Dallas. By 1992, he was recognized as “One of the Top 10 Collegiate Entrepreneurs in the USA” by the Association of Collegiate Entrepreneurs.

He met his wife, Karen, on campus. In 1993 he would graduate with a BBA in business and she would earn a B.S. in speech–public relations with a minor in professional business marketing in 1992. The two would go on to establish the business, the Center for Respect, that would allow him to eventually work full time speaking about sexual assault prevention, consent and bystander intervention. His sister Rita Hookstead, who received her BBA and MBA from UW-Whitewater, worked at the center for more than 17 years. His parents were also supportive throughout, as were his sisters Cheri and Vicki.

Over the course of 30 years he has spoken at hundreds of schools, universities and military installations around the world. He became a widely sought-after subject matter expert, appearing on TV, in articles in Forbes and the Wall Street Journal, and authoring books.

As he honed his stagecraft, he earned the designation of certified professional speaker in 2008 and was inducted into the National Speakers Association Hall of Fame in 2022.

Domitrz and his wife raised four sons — Anthony, Bryan, Steven, and Matthew — and now enjoy two grandchildren. Based in southeastern Wisconsin, he continues to travel nationally and internationally, spreading his message.

And he has warm memories of his alma mater and those who supported his early entrepreneurship. “When you have people supporting your journey on campus it makes all the difference.” ❖

WARHAWKS GIVE FUND

Congratulations to our graduating Warhawks and to the families and friends who supported their academic journeys and are here to cheer them on! We are so excited to see what our graduates do in the world, and we hope they always feel Warhawk pride for their campus home.

Your student made it to this milestone through hard work, and their achievement is remarkable. Every year, some of our Warhawks struggle to stay in school, unable to meet their tuition payments with the financial aid, loans, student jobs and parent resources they have. Some are able to achieve their higher education goals only because of the scholarships and other resources that our Warhawks Give fund provides.

Your gift to our Warhawks Give Fund — also referred to as the Greatest Needs Fund — directly supports the university's driving purpose: success for students like your graduate-to-be.

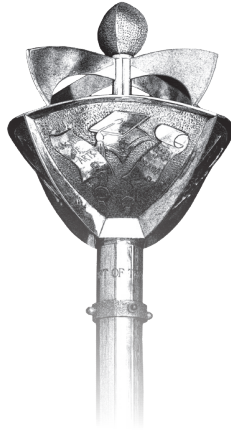

Visit uww.edu/give to find out how your donation of any amount can help keep students in school, so one day their family and friends can be sitting where you are right now — celebrating them and imagining their bright future!

UW-WHITewater CEREMONIAL EMBLEMS

THE MACE

A ceremonial staff called a mace is the official symbol of the university that is carried by a university marshal and signifies that ceremonies such as convocations, dedications and commencements have been officially sanctioned. The mace is a gift of the Class of 1969 in recognition of the academic growth of the university. Designed by Kurt J. Matzdorf of New York, the mace is fashioned entirely of sterling silver, enamels and amethyst and represents the School of Graduate Studies and four of the university's five colleges: Arts and Communication, Business and Economics, Education and Professional Studies, and Letters and Sciences.

The carrier of the ceremonial mace is the W.P. Roseman Excellence in Teaching Award recipient. The award, presented annually to a UW-Whitewater faculty member for outstanding teaching, was established in the memory of W.P. Roseman, who directed the Whitewater campus elementary school from 1919 to 1942. An all-university committee determines the recipient, and the award carries a cash prize. ❖

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The cap and gown that faculty and students wear today have a tradition going back to the 12th and 13th centuries, when students and faculty were considered members of the clergy. The bachelor's gown has a closed front and long, pointed sleeves. The master's gown has an open front and extremely long, closed sleeves; the arms protrude through slits at the wrist and the ends of the sleeves are square, with an arc of a circle just above the bottom. The doctor's gown is an open-fronted garment with voluminous bell-shaped sleeves with three black or blue (for philosophy) velvet bars. Gowns are usually black.

The academic hood is edged in colored velvet, which indicates the field in which the degree was earned. The master's hood is three and one-half feet long, with the colors of the edging for degrees granted by UW-Whitewater. The lining of the hood is purple and white, the official academic colors.

Students wearing gold stoles with "Honor" printed on them are graduates of the University Honors Program. Gold cords designate students graduating with Latin honors (cum laude, magna cum laude and summa cum laude). Some students wear sashes reflecting their participation in student organizations. Graduates who studied abroad or who are affiliated with another country may wear satin sashes reflecting the colors of the country's flag. ❖

THE CHANCELLOR'S MEDALLION

The chancellor's medallion signifies the history and aspirations of the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater. Conferral upon the chancellor declares that person's institutional leadership role, investing the solemn rights, responsibilities and privileges attendant with that honor.

The medallion depicts the tower of Old Main, the building that served as the centerpiece of the Whitewater campus from the university's founding in 1868 until it was lost to fire in 1970. The design of artist Linda Threadgill, an emeritus faculty member of the College of Arts and Communication, the medallion was cast and constructed in sterling silver and gold plate. Teresa Faris, associate professor of art and design, designed and constructed a chain of the same materials for the medallion in 2016.

A gift of the UW-Whitewater Foundation, the medallion was originally presented to Chancellor James R. Connor in 1987. ❖

CHANCELLOR'S GRATITUDE FOR MILITARY SERVICE COIN

Beginning in 2015, the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater Chancellor Gratitude for Military Service Coin has been conferred upon graduating veterans and military students who wish to be recognized for their service. ❖

UW-WHITewater ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Alumni Association is the principal organization through which UW-Whitewater graduates continue a relationship with their alma mater. This association seeks to enhance the reputation of its university while providing a variety of services and programming, including free professional development opportunities, Whitewater magazine, the Warhawk Pride alumni e-newsletter, alumni gatherings, alumni travel, Founders Day, Homecoming, the alumni mentor program, class guest-speaking engagements and advisory boards.

Organized in 1952, the Alumni Association has a current membership of more than 100,000 from across the country and around the world. Each semester, hundreds of new graduates join the ranks of this important organization at no cost to them.

Support for the Alumni Association is provided in part by generous alumni donations to the UW-Whitewater Foundation.

Those interested in learning more about the UW-Whitewater Alumni Association should visit the website at uww.edu/alumni. ❖

ALMA MATER

Traditional tune from Scotland

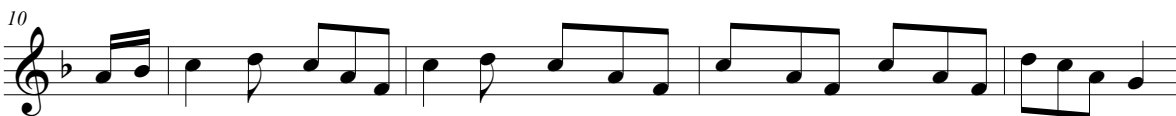

Lyrics by Andrew Baldwin, Class of 2014

We sing to hon-or our great al-ma ma-ter, A place that we keep in our hearts day and night.

And our voi-ces soar just as those here be-fore pro-claim-ing our love for the pur-ple and white.

As we War-hawks fly to un-boun-ding heights we sing, "White-wa-ter White-wa-ter glo-ry to you!"

For we found a home and where ev-er we roam, we sing, "White-wa-ter White-wa-ter War-hawks are we!"
